

Arthur Grade School

Busy First Quarter Leads to Busier Second Quarter

Fall, 2010

Between all the field trips, classroom visitors, projects, classwork, open houses and beautiful fall weather, we are all too busy to notice that it's almost time for holiday season.

Our grade school students have jumped right in to their roles and we are seeing a lot of growth and activity in the building. Many classes have already been on field trips, including visits to an apple orchard, pumpkin patch, state park, university campus, nursing home, and many other places. As has been the case in the past, whenever our students go to other sites away from school, we get complimented on the behavior, manners, and politeness of our students. We are proud of our students work habits and behavior in and out of school, and we thank parents and grandparents, aunts and uncles, and everyone else at home that play an integral part in shaping your young person's attitude and high expectations.

Fifth and Sixth Grade Update

In the fifth and sixth grade wing many things are filling the hallways and wall space these days. Students are working on Native American projects, which highlight certain regions and tribes including research on homes, food, clothing, and more. There is also a book club up and running during lunchtime. The book currently being read is "The Cricket in Times Square". The book club even has Mr. Condill reading along.

Stay Involved

One of the most important conversations parents can have with their children is how things are going for them at school. Even though it may not seem like it all the time, kids do want to talk about what they're doing and what they're learning about at school. Ask them questions, look at their folders and work they bring home, and maybe most importantly, take time to read to them or with them. We are proud of the work our students do, and they are proud of their work too, and want to share it.

Honor Roll

Our fifth and sixth graders worked hard first quarter to earn honors. The following are students that made either the high honor roll, honor roll, or honorable mention: Eric Brenneman, Brody Carlberg, Abi Duzan, Jennifer Gingerich, Logan Hall, Eric Herschberger, Shandon Herschberger, Macy Hol-
